Perrin has a busy, well established practice specializing in all aspects of personal injury and clinical negligence.

This work spills over into the arena of CICA claims and inquests.

Perrin is a contributor to Kemp & Kemp Personal Injury Law Practice and Procedure (Fatal Accidents and Disclosure Chapters), is due to update the APIL Guide to MIB Claims with Andrew Ritchie QC and Jeremy Ford and is a contributing editor of the 9 Gough Square publication “Clinical Negligence Claims: A Practical Guide”. Perrin also lectures regularly across a broad range of topics.

Areas of Expertise

Personal Injury

Perrin is mainly instructed in high value, complex or multiple orthopaedic cases with her current case load including traumatic brain injury work (including subtle brain injury cases), spinal injury, amputations and fatal accident claims. Perrin is known for her sound, practical approach and has an ability to put clients at ease.

Notable Personal Injury cases

£1,562,000 settlement for a protected party at JSM, £650,000 settlement of a claim with difficult causation arguments due to pre-existing multiple sclerosis.

Clinical Negligence

Perrin has a varied clinical negligence practice with her current workload including spinal injuries, obstetric negligence, delayed diagnosis cases and negligently performed surgery. Perrin is known for getting to the crux of a case quickly and digesting complex medical issues in a manner that can be explained easily to her clients.
